Profitability of Shariah Compliant stocks

Many People believe in the Myth that the filtration of Scripts for Shariah Compliancy would hamper the Performance of the fund, as it would reduce the diversification of the Portfolio. This is far from the truth, as there are more than enough scripts to allow diversification in terms of both Market capitalization as well as sectors. As a matter of fact, the universe of Shariah compliant stocks is proportionately much richer in profitable stocks as compared to the universe of all listed stocks. Following is a comparison of the BSE 500 Shariah Index with its counterpart BSE 500.

INDEX NAME	INDEX LEVEL	5 YR ANN. RETURNS
S&P BSE 500 SHARIAH (TR)	3,668.82	14.67 % ▲
S&P BSE 500 (TR)	13,919.26	12.89 % ▲

*DATA HAS BEEN BASED AT 100.

UPDATED: FEB 17, 2017

The universe of stocks which comply with the Divinely ordained Law are found to be inherently more Profitable in the Long Run. The BSE Shariah 500 Index is based on the theology of other schools in Islam, therefore there are variations in the the Screening methodology as compared to the Shia fiqh. We are confident that the Screening methodology followed by us would enhance the Universe of Stocks even further.

Opportunities in the Real-Estate Market

India has shot to the top of the list of preferred destinations for real-estate investment in the eyes of major institutional investors. According to Thomson Reuters, It is the fastest-growing major economy set for growth of 7.0% this year. Another Important thing to Consider is the recent Demonetization drive carried out in India. Demonetization is likely to knock the Growth of the Market temporarily providing a stalling period for the coming two-quarters providing a brief buying window for Investors. The decision to ban high-value currency notes cancels out 86% of the cash in circulation, but should drive “black money” into the legitimate economy, including property. Thus, In the long-run the Real-Estate market is bound to undergo growth, along with an increase in transparency and buyer confidence. Feasibility in Acquiring Assets (Real-Estate)

Over the Past Decade Investments in Real Estate have given great returns but Investing in Real Estate on an individual level is not feasible for most people. Many factors come into consideration when investing individually, First, because of the unit size, it is not possible for every individual to buy property since the cost involved is huge whereas, one can invest in equity for an amount that is relatively low and there is no upper limits. Secondly, acquiring a property is subject to a lot of legal paperwork and one has to go through a lot of cumbersome processes. Also, Not everyone has the time and/or expertise to do the research and keep up with the trends in the property market. But these issues can be addressed by investing in our product. Our Fund managers have years of experience and unmatched expertise in real estate which along with constant research and development will provide the best results. ‘Rabah’ will also enable the investors to invest in various properties at once with the same amount that would otherwise be required to acquire a single property. For eg A person could invest INR 1,00,0000 individually on a single property in say the residential/commercial/industrial sector or could invest the same amount in a number of properties scattered across different sectors of real estate. The latter will result in diversification in various sectors and provide more security as well as stable returns.
